Technical Viewpoints

EUR/USD

This pair is forming a good continuation pattern. However, I would like to see this make it up to weekly piv/SR confluence at roughly 1.383.

PA moves to the south were stopped by “00” 1.35, but further moves should see good friction on daily fib 50, which also confluence with 1.34 “00”.

Technical Viewpoints

EUR/GBP

I am watching this pair with great interest. As you can see, PA is making a rising wedge up to heavy resistance at multiple fib confluence and SR PPZ. This roughly starts at .87363 and the back is .875. SO this is relatively narrow, which might work out well.

Highly unlikely, but any move north of that, would see another extremely strong confluence of fibs and SR.

Technical Viewpoints

GBP/USD

For this pair, I am just seeing good SR confluence with Fibs. First moderate resistance north is Fib 38 with confluence of SR and the same goes for 50 and 61.

Moves south to find extremely large support at Daily Fib and “00” 1.55 confluence. High-Prob area.

Technical Viewpoints

GBP/CAD

For this pair I am looking for moderate friction at fib 38 with SR confluence. Next PA should either be stopped or slowed by monthly piv at 1.5935. Stops on shorts at monthly piv could be set behind weekly R! at 1.5983. Coincidentally, fib 50 is a confluence with weekly R1. So if Monthly piv isn't enough for you, the confluence to the north might be enough.

Moves to the south to find support at 1.55"00"

Technical Viewpoints

EUR/JPY

For this pair, my only high-prob target is H4 fib confluence at 109. This is a confluence of fibs and also SR. however, PA has a lot to get through to get there. UTLs and a weak fib 38 are in the way. This is also a confluence of monthly piv.

Technical Viewpoints

AUD/USD

Solid target to the north on fib 50. However, keep a good eye on UTL/LTLs as they have proven to be extremely significant.

Technical Viewpoints

NZD/USD

You can see right off the chart the significance of LTL/UTLs with this pair. From the past, you can see breaks of these are followed by a release of pressure. PA is currently building up behind current UTL.

Short-term moves to the north to find friction at fib 38 and Weekly R1. Fib 38 is a confluence with weekly piv. Weekly R1 is a confluence with SR on previous swing.
